colloidal crystals-self-assembly of monodispersed ... - hiroshi nakamura review abstract colloidal crystals are three-dimensionally periodic lattices assembled from monodispersed spherical colloids. the ability to crystallize spherical colloids into spatially periodic structures has enabled interesting and often useful functionality not only from the constituent colloidal particles, but also from ... iv-c microscopic investigation of molecular-based conductors - of the ttp family will be discussed from microscopic points of view. annual review 2001 87 iv-c microscopic investigation of molecular-based conductors the aim of this research is to clarify the electronic states (charge and spin states) of molecular based compounds with curious electronic phases by microscopic point of view. primary papillary hyperplasia of the gallbladder mimicking ... - microscopic examination revealed diffuse papillary projection of the mucosa without any structural abnormality, suggesting neoplasm (figs. 2b, 2c). some tubular structure continuing from the papillary folds were found in the proper muscular layer but they were considered as results of hyperplastic change of the mucosa within the rokitansky-asch- annual bulletin - prometheus-shelleys - for microscopic observations, while the latter was handed down to the "natural history art" (lynn merrill, 1989) of the pre-raphaelites in which they were occupied with painstaking description both in words and drawings of tree stems, or mists, or compact crystallines. it seems that the microscopic method produced derivative differences of tumor microenvironment between stage i ... - differences of tumor microenvironment between stage i lepidic-positive and lepidic-negative lung adenocarcinomas shinya katsumata, md,a,b,c keiju aokage, md, phd,b ... epidermolysis bullosa simplex associated with pyloric ... - for electron microscopic examination, skin specimens were fixed in 5% glutaraldehyde and post-fixed in 1% osmium tetroxide, stained en-block in uranyl acetate. they were dehydrated in a graded series of ethanol solutions, then embedded in araldite 6005 (nem, to-kyo, japan). ultra-thin sections were cut, stained with uranyl acetate and lead citrate.
